Adding a different payment method does not automatically update outstanding installment payments. If you'd like to update all of your unpaid installment payments to be charged to a new payment method, you'll need to set your new payment method as your default after you've added it to your Sezzle account. To do this, just visit "Payment Methods" on the Sezzle website within your Sezzle dashboard, select your new payment method, and set it as your default.

It's important to make these changes at least two days before your payment is scheduled.

Can I change my payment due date?

Yes. Your first rescheduled payment for an order is free. You can push your installment payment out by up to two weeks. At the same time, you can automatically adjust any future installments out by the same time frame. Second and third reschedules, however, come with a fee from Sezzle that is charged with the rescheduled payment.

To reschedule an installment payment, log into your Sezzle account and view your dashboard, then select the order you'd like to reschedule. You'll then have the option to edit the installment you'd like to reschedule by selecting a date from a drop-down menu. You'll also be able to review and accept the terms and conditions of rescheduling your installment. Once you've agreed to the terms and conditions, you'll be able to "confirm" and finalize your new installment payment date.
